My Dear Sir:-

I send you herewith, a copy of the Manual of the First Presbyterian Church, published in 1895.

You are undoubtedly aware that this church organization is nearly the oldest in the city, and for many years the most representative. Furthermore for the first years of its existence, it was especially conspicuous in our history from the fact that many public meetings and events took place within the walls of the old edifice, and also in the new. From its commanding and central position, on our leading thoroughfare, it has long been a very conspicuous land mark.

Prefatory Note.

THE preparation of this manual has received the oversight of a special committee, consisting of the Pastor, Ex-Judge A. J. Northrup and Mr. Stanley G. Smith, but the chief labor expended upon it has come from Mr. Smith.

THE contribution of money for the work of the Presbyterian Boards is a part of our weekly church worship. This giving is an expression of our gratitude to Him who gave Himself for us, and of our obligation to humanity as one brotherhood with us in Him.

The Boards of the Presbyterian Church are for: Foreign Missions, Aid for Colleges, Sustentation, (help for poor churches) Church Erection, Ministerial Relief, Education, Freedmen, and Home Missions.

The amount of these contributions is divided among the Boards according to the ratio indicated by the General Assembly. Any individual donor may specify on the blue envelope as to which of these objects or any others it is desired that the gift shall be appropriated.

Elder W. H. H. Gere is the Treasurer of this Church Fund.

The money placed in the buff envelopes is in payment for pew rent, and prompt payment is urgently requested.

The offerings on Sacramental Sabbaths are for the Deacons Fund, for the aid of the poor of the Church, and such other causes as come under the Deacon's care.

"The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

Form for Reception to the Lord's Supper.

I. Reception of Persons Baptized in Infancy.*

The following persons born within the pale of the visible church, and in their infancy dedicated to God in baptism, having been examined and approved by the Session as to their Christian knowledge and experience, will now present themselves as their names are called, to confirm that membership in the Church which was begun in their behalf through parental faith.

Here the persons will present themselves as their names are called, and the Minister shall say:

Dearly Beloved—Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ! This is the word of faith which we preach: "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thy heart that God raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

By virtue of your connection with the visible Church through believing parents, you received the sacrament of baptism in infancy, according to Scriptural warrant. You have been instructed in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. You have been taught to pray, to abhor sin, to love God and to obey the Lord Jesus Christ.

As children of the covenant you do now humbly trust that you have been chosen of God to salvation through sanctification of the Spirit, and belief of the Truth, and you have expressed the desire to be admitted into full communion with the people of Christ, feeling it to be your duty and your privilege to come to the Lord's Supper.

We thankfully recognize the seal of God thus set to His promise, which "is unto us and to our children." We rejoice in your obedience to our common Master, who said to his disciples, "This do in remembrance of Me." We welcome you to the table of the Lord. Henceforth, let your manner of life be worthy of the Gospel of Christ; and may you adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things.

II. Reception of Persons to be Baptized on Public Confession of Christ.

Adult Baptism.

The following persons having given satisfaction with respect to their knowledge and Christian experience, by act of Session have been received into membership, and will now present themselves as their names are called to make public confession of their faith in the presence of the congregation, and thereupon be baptized.

Here the candidates will come forward, as their names are called, and having presented themselves the minister shall say:

Beloved in the Lord—In accordance with our Saviour's words, "Whosoever shall confess Me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven;"—you here and now, confessing and repenting of your sins, and trusting that they are pardoned solely through the atoning sacrifice of Jesus Christ our Lord, do publicly confess your faith in Jesus Christ and your acceptance of Him as your Saviour and King, whose life is your example, whose death is your only ground of hope, whose commandment is your supreme law, and whose perpetual and prevailing intercession is your evermore blessed assurance of salvation to the uttermost.

Henceforth avoiding that worldly conformity which is forbidden in the Scriptures, and seeking fellowship with the people of God, you do engage to keep covenant with them, and with him, in the faithful and diligent observance of all the commandments and ordinances of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Do you thus believe and promise?

Here each shall audibly answer:

I do.

Here baptism shall be administered. The minister, dipping his hand in water, and then placing his hand on the head of the candidate for baptism, and using the full GIVEN name of the candidate, shall say:

M—— ——, Believer in Jesus, I baptize thee into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. AMEN.

Let us pray.

III. RECEPTION OF CANDIDATES COMING BY CERTIFICATE.

The following persons have presented letters of dismission and recommendation to this church which have been accepted by Session. They will rise in their places as their names are called.

Here the minister shall read the names of those uniting by letter, and when they have risen in the presence of the congregation, the minister shall say:

DEARLY BELOVED—Having heretofore made a public confession of your faith, and having been commended to us by the respective churches of which you were members, you do now cordially acknowledge your special relations to this Church, desiring in all things to walk worthy the vocation wherewith we are called.

IV. Welcome by the Church.

Here all the members of the Church will rise, to welcome all that have presented themselves, either on confession or by letter, and the minister shall say:

We, the officers and members of this Church, earnestly welcome you to our communion, to share with us the labors and privileges, the trials and the rewards, of Christian discipleship.

Let us together "confess that we are pilgrims on the earth," and "declare plainly that we seek a country;" "looking for the blessed hope, and appearing of the glory of our great God and Saviour Jesus Christ."

"We are persuaded of your things that accompany salvation." Living and dying may you be the Lord's; and at last, may you and we, faithful unto death, and more than conquerors through Him that loved us, stand holy and unreprovable in His sight to the praise of the glory of His grace, being entered into that blessed heavenly fellowship where our communion shall be forever perfect and our joy forever full.

Here may be sung this stanza:

Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

And the congregation may audibly repeat with the minister the Apostle's Creed.

I believe in God, the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth:

And in Jesus Christ, His only Son our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary; suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried; the third day He arose from the dead; He ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty; from thence He shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Ghost; the Holy Catholic Church; the communion of saints; the forgiveness of sins; the resurrection of the dead, and the life everlasting. Amen.

And the minister shall say:

"The Lord bless you and keep you. The Lord make his face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you. The Lord lift up His countenance upon you and give you peace."

"Now unto him that is able to guard you from stumbling, and to set you before the presence of His glory without blemish, in exceeding joy, to the only God our Saviour, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, dominion and power, before all time, and now, and for evermore. AMEN."

Infant Baptism

"It is usually to be administered in the church in the presence of the congregation." Directory for Worship. Ch. vii. 2.

Form for Infant Baptism.

While the child is being brought to the font, the minister may say:

"And they brought unto him also their babes, that he should touch them; but when the disciples saw it, they rebuked them. But Jesus called them unto him, saying, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God."—Luke xviii. 15–16.

"For I say unto you, that in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in Heaven."—Matt. xviii. 10.

"Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish."—Matt. xviii. 14.

When the parents and child have taken their appropriate place, the minister shall say:

Let us pray.

Blessed Jesus, thou hast encouraged us to bring our babes to thee; for thou hast said, Of such is the kingdom of heaven. We beseech thee take up this child in the arms of thy power and grace, put thy hands upon it, and bless it. May it be a vessel of honor sanctified, and meet for the Master's use, and owned as one of thine in the day when thou makest up thy jewels. Amen.

Here the minister shall address the parents, saying:

DEARLY BELOVED—In thus presenting your child for baptism, you renew your confession of faith in Christianity, and your hearty acceptance and adoption of it as the religion of your household.

You confess that this child through the common heritance of a sinful nature needs the renewing and sanctifying influence of the Holy Spirit, of which the water of baptism is the scriptural emblem.

You do promise to pray with, and for, this child, to instruct him diligently in the doctrines and duties of Christianity, and to do what in you lies to bring him up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

This you do, humbly hoping that you are Christ's, and believing the promise that God will be your God, and the God of your children after you.

Then the minister, naming the full given name, shall baptize the child saying:

W—— N——, child of the covenant, I baptize thee into the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, AMEN.

Let us pray.

O thou Almighty and most gracious God, thou has taught us to call thee Father, thou hast adopted us into thy family, thy covenant of love is with us and with our children, and thy Home awaits us if we will obey and trust thee. With joy and gladness we have brought this dear treasure of the household and have presented it to thee in thy Temple. We have named it with thy name. Write thou the name in "the Lamb's Book of Life." Keep this heart in thy love. Hold thou these feet in the way to Heaven. Help these parents to fulfil their tender vows, and with prayer and holy living to form this child into the strength and beauty of the Child Jesus.

O, Lord, we beseech thee, pour thy Spirit upon all our offspring, that our "sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace," draw every one of them by thy love, until they all shall come to subscribe with their own hands unto the Lord, and to surname themselves by the name of Israel.

This we humbly ask in the name of thy beloved Son, who taught us that it is not the will of our Father in heaven that one of these little ones should perish. Amen.

Historical Notes.

THE Society of the First Presbyterian Church of the Village of Syracuse, was organized on the 14th of December, 1824. Moses D. Burnet, Miles Seymour, Rufus Moss, Jonathan Day, Hemon Walbridge, Joshua Forman and Joseph Slocum were elected Trustees. During the following year, 1825, a church building was erected on the present site of the store of D. McCarthy & Co.'s, corner of South Salina and East Fayette streets. The ground was given by William James and others. The church was dedicated on the second Thursday of January, 1826. Rev. Dirck C. Lansing, of Auburn, preached the sermon. A young man engaged in theological studies at the Seminary at Auburn, came with Dr. Lansing on this occasion. The student was John Watson Adams who soon after became the pastor of the church, and for a continuous ministry of nearly twenty-four years.

The First Presbyterian Church of Syracuse was organized on the 6th of April, 1826. The church consisted of twenty-six members. Their names are as follows:

Frederick Phelps,
Edward Chapman,
Pliny Dickinson,
Rufus Morse,
J. W. Hanchett,
Jonathan Day,
Archibald L. Fellows,
Agrippa Martin,
Benoni Stilson,
Samuel Mead,
Anna Phelps,
Florilla Chapman,
Melinda Kasson,
Harriet Newton,
Margaret Hanchett,
Theodosia Wall,
Deborah Webb,
Olive Pease,
Catharine Marble,
Nancy Toogood,
Eliza Parsons,
Eve VanBuren,
Elizabeth Cummings,
Julia Northam,
Mary A. Huntington,
Sarah Norton.

Frederick Phelps and Edward Chapman were elected elders, and Pliny Dickinson deacon.

John Watson Adams was ordained and installed pastor of the church on the 28th of June, 1826. Dr. Adams died April 4th, 1850.

At the beginning of 1848, measures were taken towards the erection of a new church edifice. A building committee consisting of Henry Gifford, Elias W. Leavenworth, Thomas B. Fitch, Zebulon Ostrum and Albert A. Hudson was appointed. The present site was purchased at a cost of $10,000. The famous architect Minard LaFever gave shape to this massive and beautiful edifice. The building was completed and dedicated on the 24th of November, 1850. The original cost was $40,000, which was afterwards largely increased by extensive improvements.

Rev. Charles McHarg became pastor June, 1850, and resigned December 8, 1851. After an interval of two and a half years, Rev. Sherman Bond Canfield, D. D., on May 1, 1854, began his pastorate, which was continued to October 22, 1870. Dr. Canfield died March 5th, 1871.

Rev. Nelson Millard, D. D., became pastor November 19th, 1872, and his pastorate continued until January 20, 1884.

Rev. George B. Spalding, D. D., the present pastor was installed October 1st, 1885.

Reminiscences

—OF THE—

Early Presbyterian Church of Syracuse.

BUT few are now living who can recall much of the earlier days of the First Presbyterian Church of Syracuse, of the place where it was born, or of the times when it grew up to manly strength, but many now in active life and associated with this same church may be interested to know the memories here gathered of those times and of things of its younger life and of its early home:

The first Presbyterian Church edifice of Syracuse, was erected in 1825, upon a piece of ground presented to the Society by the Syracuse Company, an open lot on the north-east corner of South Salina and East Fayette Streets, then a pleasant and quiet location somewhat removed from the centre of the busy little town. The Church is believed to have been the first building erected upon the block; at some little time later a small frame dwelling was built near the centre of the square at some distance back from Salina Street; the grounds about it were used as a garden, this being enclosed by a high picket fence, a part of which, extending along the boundary line of the church lot, separated it from the rest of the block. At that time sidewalks had not been constructed in this direction so far out from the centre of the village, and the church was approached by a foot path in the grass at the side of the street. The building was of wood of the usual clapboard finish, with smooth ceiling at the front, and was covered with a shingled roof. It stood upon a substantial stone foundation without basement. The ground measurement of the edifice was about forty feet by sixty-five feet in size, exclusive of the open porch. The building was painted white, with dark green blinds for the side and rear windows. At the front of the building was a portico, with its four columns rising to the height of the eaves and supporting a gabled roof covering a roomy platform; this was reached by steps extending along its entire front and ends. From this platform, entrance was had by three wide doorways to the vestibule; above these doors were three large oval windows, without blinds, lighting the front gallery.

From the roof of the main building, at the front, rose a handsomely proportioned spire having at its base an open belfry. The general aspect of the building was as is shown in the accompanying drawing.

The church was provided with a fine toned bell weighing about 2,000 pounds. The faithful man who so often made the old bell swing was Sexton Gould. He was succeeded for some years by Mr. J. F. Voshall.

Sometime after the church was completed a town clock was placed in the tower and as it struck the hours for day and night it was valued by the citizens as the "regulator" of time. The bell, aside from its church use, was the reliance of the village as a fire bell, and it was also used on joyful occasions, and it came in use for funerals, and was tolled when required to mark the number of years of a closed life. It was customary also in the early days to have this bell rung on the week days at 12 M., indicating the noon hour, and at 9 P. M., as notice to the business people to close their stores for the day, and by the younger folks it was recognized as a strong hint of bed-time, or at least that they should be at home or indoors. This old New England custom was retained for some years.

The front doors of the church opened from the colonade porch into a commodious vestibule extending the entire width of the building, at either end of which were stairs leading to the gallery. Two doors opened from the vestibule into the main audience room; from these doors the two aisles extended to the rear end of the church, on either side of which were the pews, thus making four rows of pews. These pews were about eight feet in length, each of which was provided with a panel door, and arranged to be fastened by a wooden button.

The pulpit was placed between the entrance doors and was a platform semi-circular in shape supported by turned columns. The platform was reached by curved stairs on either side; these stairs had the protection of a handsome hand rail, with spindles; these were continued entirely around the front edge of the platform; and behind these spindles was hung an ornamental red damask drapery.

The upholstered desk for the Bible, rested upon the handrail in the centre of the front of the pulpit enclosure, and back of this stood the minister's sofa, which is still preserved and is now in the parlor of the present edifice.

The woodwork of the pulpit was finished in mahogany, or its imitation; altogether it was a tasteful piece of work, and while not extravagantly expensive, it presented a very handsome appearance and was an ornament to the church.

Back of the pulpit, rising from the breast work of the gallery to the ceiling of the audience room, were two large turned and properly capped columns. These, while they gave relief to the wide open space, afforded support to the base of the spire resting upon the roof of the building.

Rev. Dr. John W. Adams was the only pastor of the church who occupied this pulpit. As the first installed pastor he entered it when new, and when the church had served its time and was torn down, he passed away—his pastorate was finished. It is said his death occurred the day the old steeple fell.

The audience room and its fixtures, with the exception of the pulpit and the pew rails, were finished in white. The wood, work painted, the ceiling and side walls plainly whitewashed.

So was the entire room, with its many windows, bright and cheerful. The good people of that day considered it essential that the light of heaven should have free course to enter the Sanctuary, and only when the sun cast its strong beams upon the southern windows, requiring, for comfort, the closing of the dark green blinds, was the only thing approaching "a dim religious light" ever known in the old church.

For evening use such light as could be obtained before the advent of spirit gas or kerosene, was supplied by well distributed whale-oil lamps.

The warming of the church was not done in those days either by furnaces or steam, but as much comfort as could be had in the wintry days was obtained from two cast iron stoves of liberal dimensions, which were placed one near each of the entrance doors and these were kept in efficient service by the liberal supply of good hard cord wood. To economize the heat, the stove pipes were extended to the rear of the church where they entered the chimneys. These pipes,—more useful than ornamental,—were sustained in place by iron brackets attached to the columns under the breastwork of the gallery. It was not uncommon on the cold Sundays for the good ladies from a distance to have their tin foot-stoves replenished with bright coals from these stoves to add to their comfort during the continuance of the church services.

The Sunday School was held in the main audience room of the church. Its little library was kept in a book case that stood under the pulpit, back of its supporting columns.

The gallery, extending entirely around the audience room, with its opening above the main floor, eliptic in form, afforded very desirable seats on all sides. Except those reserved for the "singers," the seats were free to the public. In addition to these, there were two large triangular enclosures at the eastern end of the gallery where seats were designated for the "colored people."

Mr. Elijah T. Hayden was one of the earliest choir leaders in the old church. The choir then occupied the gallery seats in rear of the pulpit, as it was deemed important that the choir should be seen by the congregation, as well as the draw curtains would allow.

No musical instruments were used at that time, but a "tuning-fork" served to give the "pitch" of the tunes. The approved music of those days was of the "standard" and "orthodox" kind. The tunes were substantial and worshipful melodies of the old New England stamp, and such as Amsterdam, Lenox, Hamburg, China, St. Ann, Mear, Judgment Hymn, and the Old Hundred doxology, were well sung without embellishment or flourish, and were familiar to the congregation. So-called "operatic" adaptations were not known as church music in those primitive days.

The choir was volunteer, and made up of well-known citizens—Deacon Fellows, Deacon Dickinson, William H. Alexander, Josiah Wright, Daniel and David Bradley, Ezra Stiles, Dr. Rial Wright, Dr. George Hooker, Samuel Bonta and his sister Sarah, (Mrs. Walch) were early choir members, and Miss Charlotte Lawrence, daughter of Grove Lawrence, Esq., was for a long time one of the prominent singers.

At some later date a small pipe organ was placed in the gallery at the east end of the church and the location of the choir, for a time at least, was changed. It is probable that the use of the bell rope interfered with the placing of the organ in the front gallery. The organ was made by Mr. Phelps, a country organ builder, and was valued at about $300. Mr. Russel Cook acted as organist for a time, he afterward studied for the ministry and was admitted to the Presbyterian body and later became an officer of the American Tract Society.

The organ, for some reason, was not long after its introduction removed—it was perhaps not a satisfactory experiment.

Mr. Isaac G. Gleason, a well-known "singing master" of the day, was for a time a leader of the choir.

Before Syracuse had arrived to the dignity of large public halls or opera houses, there were times when a roomy place was needed by the citizens for the larger gatherings of public interest. This church from its location and convenience of arrangement afforded a most desirable audience room and it was sometimes found necessary to obtain its use. The trustees, although always careful that the building should not be rendered common in general estimation, occasionally opened its doors for such public use, provided the object in view was not too intensely secular. On one occasion the Hon. John Quincy Adams –"The Old Man Eloquent"—addressed a very large gathering of the people in the church. The exact date cannot be given. The meeting was presided over by the Hon. Harvey Baldwin.

A Grand Union Concert was allowed to be given in the church by the associated voices of church choirs,—singers of the village and adjoining towns,—under the leadership of Chorister Gleason. The condition stipulated for the use of the house was that a committee should first hear a rehearsal. This was being complied with, when one of their number, Mr. H. W. VanBuren, with great enthusiasm exclaimed that he had "never heard such music since the world was born; go on with your concert."

About the year 1839 a fine exhibition was given in the church by the pupils of Mrs. Williams' Young Ladies School, then a flourishing institution occupying a brick building on South Salina street, formerly a hotel, and may be remembered as the "Old Line House." Some ladies now of our city and who number more years than when they appeared on the platform as pretty little girls, and received the commendation of their many friends, may recall with pleasure this occasion as one of the bright spots of their early school day life.

In 1841 the edifice was enlarged by being considerably lengthened and in many respects it was improved; quite a number of new pews were provided for by the enlargement.

The original enclosed pulpit, which stood somewhat high, as was the fashion in early days, was removed, and a lower and open platform with a movable desk was substituted. The pews were modernized in appearance by being grained in imitation of hard woods and varnished, and many of them were cushioned.

With the improvements in the building and its furnishings, a new order of things was soon introduced into the gallery by connecting an orchestra with the choir. Mr. Charles E. Adams was engaged as the director and leader, he playing the first violin.

Of several young men who were either regular members of the orchestra or occasional assistants, were Mr. Ralph O. Barnes and Mr. William Henry Burr, playing flutes; Mr. Spencer Rust the viola; Mr. Timothy Hough, Mr. George Nolton and Samuel Packwood, violincellos; and Mr. J. W. Barker and Mr. B. R. Norton as players of double bass.

Of the singers, the names of some of the ladies who were actively interested about this time were: Miss Harriet Wheaton (Mrs. George B. Walter), Miss Lucy Wood (Mrs. Allen Butler), Miss Cordelia Hall (Mrs. George Raynor), Miss Lucy Barker (Mrs. L. W. Conkey), Miss Sophia Edwards (Mrs. Alfred Taylor), Miss Helen N. Stanton (Mrs. Chas. Keene), Miss Minerva Stanton (Mrs. Henry Burwell), Miss Emma Rogers (Mrs. L. W. Marsh), Miss Rachel Barker, Miss Harriet Downes (Mrs. Waggoner), and Miss Julia Downes (Mrs. Gilson), and Miss Philura Green may be remembered as one always prompt in place.

It was customary for the orchestra to play over or "give out" the tune before the singing of psalm or hymn, and between the verses to play again the last line of the tune as an interlude. One of the prominent members of the congregation not fully in harmony with the orchestral innovation, and with perhaps no "taking" for "new things," was free to express that he "did not like the tid-de-re-i between the varses."

The combination of orchestra with the choir and the order of performance was, however, generally approved and the arrangement continued for some years.

The choir received from time to time valuable re-enforcement from the young people of the congregation, some of whom improved the opportunity for instruction in the art of singing at the school of Prof. Joseph A. Allen, which was held at certain seasons in the session room of the church

Mr. Timothy Hough, in the later days of the old church, held the leadership of the choir.

The early church not being provided with a session room, the weekly prayer meetings were usually held in the main audience room. In this large room the attendants were apt to be quite widely separated; this was thought to detract much from the interest and life of the meetings. On one occasion the young pastor in looking over the "scattered sheep" was led to remark: "If we were to build a fire we would not place one coal here, another there, and another yonder, but would bring all together." The hint was effective. A suitable place was temporarily provided by securing a room on the ground floor of a two story frame building occupied partly by stores and dwellings and standing on the ground now occupied by the Onondaga County Court House, fronting on Clinton Square. A session house was afterward built, in 1833 or '34, a few feet in rear of the church and fronting Fayette street. This was a one story frame building, quite plain but very comfortable and convenient. Here the weekly meeting and business meetings of the church and society were held, and the room was allowed to be used for other needs of the village.

The celebrated temperance lecturer, John B. Gough, whose audiences in later years filled to overflowing the largest halls, was allowed to make his first address to the citizens of Syracuse in this session room. Prof. Albert G. Salisbury for a long time used the building for a select school. In winter evenings a singing school was here usually taught in sight reading and chorus singing. Singing schools were popular in those days and counted as an "event" of the week, and were largely attended by old and young.

The building was in use until the church was torn down and the property sold for a new location on the opposite corner of the street for the new stone church edifice, which was erected in 1850.

The elevation, plans and description of the old Presbyterian Church here given and believed to convey a correct idea of the original building, were prepared for the Manual from memory by Mr. M. W. Hanchett of this city, whose father and mother were of the original number who organized the church, and who about the year 1834 was himself a member. Although quite young at the time, he was so much interested in its affairs that impressions made at that early date are still quite fresh in mind. Some of the items have authority of record, and some adding to historic interest, have been kindly furnished by friends from their personal recollection.

The drawings have the testimony of Mr. E. T. Hayden, who is perhaps the oldest now living of the members of the church in its earliest days, and was himself an architect and builder, that they are essentially correct. He does not see wherein to change them. Of the church he says: "I am very clear in my recollection of the most of it."

Our townsman, Mr. Amos L. Mason, the well known builder, distinctly remembers this original church building and recognizes in the sketch a correct representation of the now almost forgotten First Church edifice.

The Christian Endeavor Pledge.

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do; that I will make it the rule of my life to pray, and to read the Bible every day, and to support my own church in every way, especially by attending all her regular Sunday and midweek services, unless prevented by some reason which I can conscientiously give my Saviour; and that, just so far as I know how, throughout my whole life, I will endeavor to lead a Christian life.

As an active member, I promise to be true to all my duties, to be present at, and to take some part, aside from singing, in every Christian Endeavor prayer meeting, unless hindered by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Lord and Master. If obliged to be absent from the monthly consecration meeting of the society, I will, if possible, send at least a verse of Scripture to be read in response to my name at the roll call.

The Oncoming Host.

The church had never before really discovered her young people. The tramp of the coming army of youth has been an amazing revelation to many a congregation. The old veterans in the thinning ranks had never seemed to realize the fact that a great host of reserves were waiting just behind them for the signal to leap to the front and take the field. It is nothing less than a revolution that has been wrought in the camp of Israel, yet wrought quietly, as works the leaven in the meal.—The Evangelical.

A Religion of Joy.

Evidently religion is a thing of joy to these Endeavorers. The old declusion that piety and a solemn face, like lettuce and vinegar, must go together, may still linger, perhaps, in some remote corner, but one may be very sure that no Christian Endeavor society can be found within ten miles of any such habitat of gloom. The delightful readiness which launches out into song, and the earnestness and hopefulness that are the dominant notes in all that they find to sing or to say, afford agreeable and most convincing evidence that these young workers thoroughly believe that their gospel is what its name implies.—"good news."—Boston Globe.

REV. CHARLES K. McHARG.

SECOND PASTOR, 1850-1851.

The Woman's Aid Society.

The first benevolent society of this city was organized in 1830 by Mrs. Benjamin C. Lathrop, (who is still one of our members).

It was composed of the young people from three churches, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian. It was chiefly a social gathering, although it soon became a sewing society, where the ladies met one afternoon each week to sew, making gentlemen's collars, pin cushions, etc., which the gentlemen bought when they joined them in the evening. The small amount realized was used for comforts for the sick.

The second year, 1831, our church organized their own sewing society and the same has always existed, the name only changing to Ladies' Benevolent Society.

THIRD PASTOR, 1854-1870.

Mary Fobes Memorial Mission Band.

The first missionary society ever organized by women had its birth in New York City in 1861. It is known as the "Woman's Union Missionary Society." Its appeal was at once sent to all Protestant churches for the establishment of auxiliaries and Mission Bands. In October, 1863, a band was formed in our church under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Fobes, a woman, who strongly blended with her delicate organization, and gracious affability, a firmness, persistence and inspiring enthusiasm which gave great success to the society from its beginning, and have made their power felt through all the years since. At the organization a line of reading was marked out by Mrs. Fobes, and information was given upon all phases of missionary work. The education of pupils in the Girls School at Yokahama, Japan, was provided for. One of the most potent factors in sustaining the interest in the meetings was the social fellowship imparted to them. After the death of Mrs. Fobes, her work was taken up and carried forward most successfully by Mrs. L. S. Phillips. Her own hospitable home on West Genesee street was often the rallying place for the Band, and for missionaries reporting from their fields of work. In 1871 the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church was formed and the Fobes Band in 1885 became a part of it. Miss Frances Gifford succeeded Mrs. Phillips, being the president of the Band until she was called to the secretaryship of the Church Missionary Society. Since 1887 Mrs. F. A. Marlette, has been filling the office. The Band is now especially interested in the Girls School at Pekin, and $50 is yearly given to its support. The school is doing a most important work in educating young women for Christian homes.

The membership of the band has never been more than thirty. The funds have been raised by an annual fee of $2 from each member. A large amount has been given during the thirty years of its history, but the missionary spirit that it has developed among its members and communicated to others, and the direct good it has accomplished in foreign fields cannot now be told. It is enough for the faithful workers to know that they are sending "the angel song of glad tidings of great joy to them that sit in darkness," and that the tie that has bound together the members of the Band in their efforts to do God's service has served to make their lives purer and happier.

This Band was organized by Mrs. Albert A. Hudson in 1869. The records show that since 1875 about $1,400 has been given for mission purposes. Three young girls have been educated and prepared for teachers, one in India and two in Japan. No regular meetings are held as all are members of the Woman's Missionary Society, and are expected to attend their meetings.

For the past four years the band has sustained a scholar in the Seminary at Beirout, Syria at the cost of $50 annually.

The Syracuse Auxiliary of the McCall Mission.

Organized 1882.

I.

The object of the Auxiliary is to promote interest in the McCall Mission of France, and to raise funds for its support. (The McCall Mission itself is an undenominational effort to give the pure Gospel to the people of France, especially to the 'working people' and their children.)

II.

The annual payment of $1 constitutes membership; $25, life membership; $100, honorary membership for life.

III.

The Board of Managers consists of representatives from the churches of various denominations which contribute to the Auxiliary.

IV.

The Syracuse Auxiliary is a supporter of "Salle Beach," in Paris, the mission station which is named for Miss Elizabeth Beach, whose devotion inspired the beginning of the McCall work in the United States. There is a free dispensary connected with the station. The station is a very important one.

The Bible Readers' Association.

The Bible Readers' Association of Syracuse was organized some thirty years ago. The readers are City Missionaries, going about from house to house, reading the Bible and offering prayer when the way seems open, relieving destitution, caring for the sick, and tendering words of sympathy to those discouraged. The scope of the work is almost boundless, reaching all nationalities, all classes and all denominations, regardless of creed, trying to seek those more especially without any church interest, that they may be brought to know of the love of Christ. Twelve meetings have been held during the past fiscal year. The regular meetings are on the third Tuesday of each month at three o'clock in the Home parlors. These meetings are public. The missionaries give their report of work done during the month. It is the earnest desire of this Association that these meetings be largely attended by the members of the various churches. They will then have increased interest in the work, and the missionaries will feel greatly strengthened. They certainly need every possible encouragement. We all know that loving sympathy and fervent prayer help to lighten burdened hearts and to make the weak strong.

WEST END MISSION BUILDING.

The West End Mission.

A lot of ground was given by Mrs. L. S. Phillips, at the corner of Milton and Gere avenues, December, 1893, for the purpose of establishing a Presbyterian church and Sunday school. Services were begun January 14, 1894, in a room of the store adjoining the lot. The pastor of the First, and Rev. Edward Winshurst had charge of this initial service, and many members of the First Church were present. Rev. Edward Winshurst has conducted all the meetings since, Sunday school, and preaching service regularly in the store room, and prayer meetings in cottages. Under his earnest and most efficient supervision, the mission has steadily grown, many have been brought into a confession of Christ, uniting with the First Church. On January 1st., 1895, Mrs. J. J. Belden gave an additional lot of ground, and twenty-five hundred dollars to meet the expense of a chapel to be erected upon it. On July 1, 1895, the ground was broken for this new building, and it is now, (September, 1895,) completed.

The Church Bibles.

FIRST BIBLE.—Presented by Mrs. Maria Hurmans, December 25, 1825.

SECOND BIBLE.—Presented by Daniel and Phoebe Ann Dana, November 23, 1850.

THIRD BIBLE.—(The present one in the pulpit,) presented by Mr. and Mrs. Jason C. Woodruff, 1872.

FOURTH BIBLE.—Presented by A. C. Belden, 1895. (Used in the lecture room.)

FIFTH BIBLE.—Presented by Mrs. O. H. Seymour, 1895. (Also in use in the lecture room.)

SIXTH BIBLE.—Presented by F. C. Eddy, 1895. A fine copy of the Revised Version for the Pulpit.

All of these Bibles are in existence and are sacredly preserved for posterity. There is also a fine copy of "The Church Psalmist" presented by Daniel and Phoebe Ann Dana and which was used in the pulpit by Rev. Dr. Canfield during his ministry.

"Hold fast to the Bible as the anchor of your liberties; write its precepts on your hearts, and practice them in your lives. To the influence of this Book are we indebted for the progress made in true civilization, and to this we must look as our guide in the future."

INTERIOR VIEW FROM PULPIT.

The Organ.

The organ, originally a three manual instrument, built by Johnson, of Westfield, Mass., in 1855, was rebuilt and enlarged in 1884 and 1885 by Steere & Turner, of Springfield, Mass.

An inaugural concert was given in commemoration of the event on February 18th, 1885, conducted by Prof. Herve D. Wilkins, of Rochester, assisted by the choir and Mr. Geo. A. Porter, the then organist of the church.

In order to give more room for the choir, and to beautify and lighten the auditorium, the organ was divided, the large window at the west end of the church being exposed to view.

The organ has 42 speaking stops with a 32 ft. Contra Bourdon, at the present time the only one in this part of the state.

There are 22 mechanical registers, making a total of 64 registers in all, and the number of pipes is 2352.

The great delicacy and characteristic quality of each of the great number of stops were carefully developed and the dignified power of full organ, the perfect blending of the whole into an agreeable and massive tone, yet not lacking in brilliancy, is the result of very careful voicing. The excellence, durability and finish of the work, even in its minor details, are especially noticeable, and the instrument, as a whole, stands as a monument of all that is best in the art of modern organ building.

"Praise him with stringed instruments and organs."—Psalms 150:4.

The Choir.

The choir for many years has consisted of a quartette but now is composed of nine members. The organist and choir are as follows:

GROVE L. MARSH, Organist and Director.

MRS. J. R. CLANCY,	MRS. GEO. W. LOOP,
Sopranos.		Contraltos.
MRS. HENRY KOPPEL,	MRS. P. W. BUTTON,
MR. FRANKLIN WALLACE,	MR. CHAS. FRANKLYN,
Tenors.		Baritones.
MR. C. H. LUTHER,	MR. LESLIE B. CURTIS,

MR. ALBERT VICKERS, Bass.

"Heaven and Earth must pass away—Songs of praise shall crown that day:
God will make new heavens and earth—Songs of praise shall hail their birth.
And shall man alone be dumb, 'till that glorious Kingdom come?
No: the Church delights to raise Psalms and hymns and songs of praise."

TABLETS.

The Bell

Bears the following inscription moulded thereon:

"ANDREW MENEELY, FOUNDER, WEST TROY, N. Y. 1851."

It weighs 4443 pounds and cost $1,213.18. It was said at the time to be as heavy a bell as had then been made to swing.

"Had I the power
To cast a bell that should from some grand tower,
At the first Christmas hour,
Out-ring,
And fling
A jubilant message wide,
The forged metals should be thus allied :—
No iron Pride,
But soft Humility, and rich-veined Hope
Cleft from a sunny slope;
And there should be
White Charity,
And silvery love, that knows not Doubt nor Fear,
To make the peal more clear;
And then to firmly fix the fine alloy,
There should be Joy!"

Memorial Windows.

"Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him, shall never thirst."

2. Erect figure of Christ with Banner.

"I am the Resurrection and the Life."

Erected in memory of John and Jane A. White and their children Walter W., John J., Cornelia and Charles R.

3. Standing figure of Christ with Bible.

"I am the Way, and the Truth and the Life"

Erected by H. W. Van Buren in memory of his wife Emeline S.

4. Pulpit window of Jesus blessing little children.

"Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Erected by Mrs. Austin Myers, 1875, in memory of her husband.

It is earnestly hoped that this most beautiful custom of commemorating the beloved dead should be continued until each window of the church shall be thus luminous with the memory of the departed.
